I had my doctor's appointment yesterday as I shared with you before.

Dear La France Toliver:

I had my doctor's appointment yesterday as I shared with you before. He diagnosed my medical condition as been shingles. He told me what I was experiencing in pain was normal for shingles and that it can present itself anywhere in the body and that it is extremely painful. He even told me about how one doctor actually operated on a patient that he thought was having an appendix ruptured when in fact it was shingles. The point that he was trying to make with me was that it was so painful that the doctor that did the operation because of the pain level experienced by that patient. He also told me that the pain could last from 30 days to 30 years (yes that is right). I asked him to give me an excuse note which I am attaching. The name of that file is:

If you have any questions whatsoever please do not hesitate to give me a call.
